Deadline: Thursday 12pm

Dear Parents and Carers,

This week Cockshut Hill School will be going BLUE to show our support and gratitude to the NHS. We want all our fantastic students to be involved.

We are looking to create a piece of artwork which will be shared online on our website and Twitter this Thursday 8pm and will form an external display within our school to be admired by our community for years to come.

To be part of our 'BIG HEART COLLAGE' we ask that you email a photograph of your child wearing something BLUE doing the heart-hand gesture before 12pm on Thursday morning to:

news@cockshuthill.org.uk

Once we have received all of the photographs our design department will begin collating the photographs into a collage, this will then be published on our Website and Twitter platforms, later becoming a permanent piece of artwork in the school grounds.

We are so excited to be putting this together for all our families and community to see. #NHS #WearBlue #StayInSaveLives

Submitting your child's photograph will mean permission for us to publish online and to display.
